

HRADOSTRAD

Hradostrad is the biggest city in the area and the main city of the Vetrich barony. Originally a fortress called the Sentinel keep, build to guard the Champions pass nearly 400 years ago. It quickly grew into a sprawling city mostly thanks to all the westward land trade that has to pass trough it. Because of this Hradostrad is full of markets, restaurants and inns.

Its main purpose still, is to guard the pass against raiders from the Uzhard fields. Because of this Hradostrad has a very strong military presence. Mercenaries are also commonly hired as reinforcements or for iradication missions.

FACTIONS OF THE REGION

- The Phoenix knights are an order of knights under oath to protect the Baron and his family. They have served as his personal agents and guards for 25 years. They are a small order consisting of 15 members.

- They wear red feathers on their helments. The number of feathers signifying an individuals rank in the order. The feathers go from 1 to 3. 3 feathers are only worn by the comander. The knights also wear black armor with red and orange feather details. Higher ranking knight also wear capes with feathers going from red around the shoulders to yellow at the bottom of the cape. Symbol of their order is a Red phoenix burning with yellow flames on a black backgrounds.

- Tristan the Preserver: is a 3 feather officer meaning he is the leader of the order. He is around 55 his face has a mustache that connects to his sideburns and short black hair with some grey on the edges. He stands around 6.2 feet tall. His armor has black fether details around hands and torso. Those fetahers end in red tips He wears a signiture cape of the Phoenix order. He seems strong and decisive. He wants to keep his position as the Orders comander and he want to protect the baron and his family. He belives that nobody is better fit to lead the order (and to a certain extent he is right).

- The Bronze Brothers are the townsguard within the town they have around 250 man in their ranks. They can be recognized by a round bronze medal they wear a top their armor. There is basic information punched onto this medal like their rank and badge number. They keep order in the streets of Hradostrad, Solve crimes and help with special events like festivals and celebrations.

- Their leader is among the barons court His name is David Bronadaim he has 4 lead oficcers under him that all have around 70 men under them.

These four comanders are:

- Etilia Vanatri: she is an elven brown haired woman. She looks to be 25 which means shes like 70 or a 100 in elven. She is in charge of the High Rise district which is the rich aristocratick merchant part of the city filled with weathy traders and minor nobility.

- She herself is an aristocratic,noble person that has to deal with other scheeming nobles all the time, more than with acual crime. She is smart and insightfull.She mainly wishes to secure her position and grow her influence. She has spend a long time emmasing favor and power with the noble and merchatn families and has a few bussinises of her own. She mainly treades in vine and fine cloths. And using her power makes sure taht she and her friends political and bussines endeavours go well. She is corrupt.

- Owen Oak: he is a halfling with blackhair that has some white starting to show and a white mustache. He looks to be in his 50. He is in charge of the Corner district. This part of the city is known for the artist and craftsmen population. It is filled with music, culture and color. Street performers and musicians stand on the corners providing entertainment for coin. Smells of sweet baked goods and vine permiate the air and colorfull flags hang on ropes from building to building.

- He is a fair, welcoming and lively halfling just as the district he watches over. He mainly deals with street thieves and scammers but also drunken bar fights and illegal drugs. He was born in this district and watched as it got taken over by street gangs and teribble flesh rotting drug called The Midnight Air. His lost his brother to these evils and swore to rid his home of this palgue. After 30 years in the Bronze Brothers he succeeded. He wants to protect the people, the famylies and the artists of the district. He hates drugs and gang activity.

- Theodor Abantis: he is a grey skinned tiefling with small blunt horns curved backwards and long slickback black hair in a low ponytail going to half of his back. He looks to be in his 40ties. He is in charge of the All town district. This part of the city is well known for combining wealthy and middle classes of people. It is a peaceful if not a boring district. The architecture here is older than in the rest of the city. The houses are mostly made of stone brick with grand arched doors and windows. It has a cold and dark mood to it. Being one of the older parts of the city it is built upon old catacombs. The most upper layer of the catacombs is used in the district as a sort of secondary system of streets. Most of the life in the district resides here underground while the surface is mostly used for housing. Many dwarves and even some drow reside in the understreets.

- He is cold and has a hard and calculating exterior. He studied at the Kaldoras academy of the arcane and natural sciences focusing on enchantment. He values order and peace and is willing to force it out of people if necessary. He mainly deals with underground fighting rings, anti establishment groups like the Tunnelers, home intrusions and theft. He hates chaos, loud noises and is slightly annoyed those less educated than him. He very much feels like he's better than most people because of his academic background.

- Nora Stibles: She is a human blond woman. She wears the hair in a middle split to the sides of her face. She looks to be around 25. She is in charge of the Brown Bottom district which includes the town slums with the most illegal activity. This place has a lot smaller and tightly built buildings and a dense population. Many people discarded by society end up here. It is dirty, muddy, smelly and claustrophobic like a maze. Smoke permeates the sky. Because of this people not of the district tend to steer clear of it. You come here to be forgotten or to take care of some shady business.

- She is hardy with a rough exterior but a warm center with a tendency to anger. She is understanding of the situation that the people of her district find themselves in and tries to lead her men to be helpful not hurtful. Because of this most common folk of the area like her. She doesn't tolerate crime of the major kind like drug dealing and smuggling. Murder, theft, drug distribution and smuggling of illegal goods are all common crimes here. She mainly wants to help and she believes that the problem isn't that the people are poor but that they are under constant bombardment of crime. "Money doesn't buy happiness, happiness comes from peace"

- The Tunnelers: Are a revolutionary anti establishment group. They started in the All Town district as a reaction to officer Theodor Abantis's way of governing of the district. They have their head quarters somewhere in the understreets and keep their operations secret and in the All Town area. They believe that all people should be free and that the current government is oppressive, unjust and corrupt. Not all politicians are wrong but it only takes one bad apple to make the whole basket smell rotten. They essentially want to establish a more democratic system of governing. They hate the Bronze Brothers, the baron's rule and Theodor or any politician not on their side.

- Leader of the Tunnelers: His name is Antonio Serteli. He is a brown haired human with a stubble. He wears his hair in a man bun. He was elected as the leader a year ago when the Tunnelers began to operate. He believes in the cause even though he wasn't one of the original members. His wife was arrested and jailed for illegal worship of the goddess Zulea
