

UHRUK

Also called the black smoke city is and mining and industrial town located near the Mudpit mire just at the bottom of Watertop Hills. Filled with mines that go deep into the earth and chimneys that rise high and spew out smoke into the sky. Folk here live very practical lives filled with hard work.

The town's main exports are coal, copper, lead and iron, from the mining part of the industry. And cannons, balistas, weapons, battle armor, constructs and iron golems from the product making part of the industry.

Most of the mining operations are done by Metal Miles Mining. A mining company owned by Earl Harding and Richard Zamadoj.

They mostly keep their mining to the Watertop hills but they also have the DOB.

Dangerous Operations Branch of their company which focuses on establishing mining colonies within the cadaver fields to look for leftover giant adamantine for mining and research purposes.

The danger doesn't come from the mining but from what it attracts. From undead to ancient sleeping demons these camps are attacked nearly every week and they never survive more than a month or two.

This line of work attracts desperate or foolhardy people that need the extra coin given for working with the DOB.

THE RED RISE

A mountain range with high amount of red clay in the foots of its mountains. It is ruled by an adult black dragon by the name of Darobog the angle of suffering. He has build the black army and controls a part of the rise and a part of the Dorokum forest. His soldiers and followers worship Lovitar goddess of pain and see Darobog as her champion.

Tribes of humans, goblins, dark elves (drow), orcs, gold, bronze and silver dragon born live in the rise and the forests below.

The human tribes together with the orcs and the dragonborn stand against the black dragons army. In protection of their sacred lands, their homes and their families.

Some agents of the dark lord have slipped through the line of resistance and are now acting in the hazardous fields to gather allies and slaves for the black army.